SECTION 2

Architectural Description

Typical older style grain complex with at least three silos and 2 shorter round storage tanks. All adjacent buildings are gabled with corrugated metal walls and roof. Silos are cylinder round, constructed of sheet metal panels. Also has 6 storage tanks (possibly for liquid) on east side of complex just beyond wood-frame outbuilding. This wood-frame building could be a small residence or office.

Architectural Description

3 bays -- north bay does not match other 2 as it has a flat parapet, stripped down classical cornice line with dentils. Transoms above awning covered. Storefront is metal-cased painted like brick. Door blocked up. Southern 2 bays are of same building -- flat roof with pitched parapet, painted brick façade; metal framed plate glass window and double doors (fully glazed). Inset panel above transom on all 3 bays.

Architectural Description

DEMOLISHED in 2005. Approximately 6 units, possibly had 8 at one time but 2 now have garage door bays. Inlaid vertical and planks provide detail above hood and for stepped parapet. No evidence of other units or office, though gas station adjacent may have been part of this complex. Poor condition, but great resource.

SECTION 2

Architectural Description

A 7.2 mile section of Route 66 west of Conway to I-40. This section of roadway was designated as Route 66 in 1930 and was paved later that year. It served as Route 66 until c 1965 when I-40 was completed 1.3 miles to the north. This segment is nominated under Criteria A and C at the state level of significance, in the areas of Engineering and Transportation. Route 66 was one of the nation's leading highways during the early to mid-twentieth century, and served as the primary corridor between Chicago and California. The road reflects the history of transportation from this era and both the forces which brought it into being and those that diminished its use.

2017: has been recently regraveled.

The boundary for the nominated property begins at the intersection of SH 207 in Conway. The north and south boundary lines extend along the highway's right-of-way and include the 22' wide roadbed as well as 10' of right-of-way on either side. The western terminus of the property is I-40 frontage road.

Recorded By: Leslie Wolfenden
Date Recorded: 12/6/2017
Double unit, remnants of tourist camp. Only this one cabin remains. One-story rectangular-plan side-gabled 2-unit cabin with stuccoed walls, two single doors, wood-framed windows, exposed rafter tails. The other building is smaller with shed-roof, stuccoed walls, single entry door, wood-framed window and flat-roofed side addition with single entry door. Use unknown.

SECTION 2

Architectural Description

Highway roadside park with six picnic areas. Each picnic area has slab table supported on one end by a brick pier and on the other end by low brick wall, as are the benches. The canopy is a low-slope metal shed roof supported by metal poles on brick piers topped by concrete slabs. There appears to be planned landscaping of walkways, trees, and boulders, providing separation and shelter from the access road and from the wind.

It appears to be a TxDOT Arbor 16 type.

Based on historical aerial views, it appears that the picnic stop had a restroom facility was removed by 2010.

SECTION 2

Architectural Description
Symmetrical façade with 5 bays. Central bay and two far bays project slightly. Entrance in central bay. Has Alamo parapet with red tile details and finials at edges of central bay. Windows placed in second and fourth bays -- 3 large windows each (now boarded up). 2 vertical windows flank entry door. Diamond detail above each of these windows. Has garage door (large like for service station on south end). Per local owner, school converted into residence. Now vacant because owners move to Panhandle because of poor health.

SECTION 2

Architectural Description

One-story U-plan motel complex. The U is disconnected at the northwest corner where a swimming pool used to be; it has been infilled. Originally the rooms wrapped around, then the corner rooms were removed by 1967 for pool (historical aerials). Room blocks are side gabled with wood-sided eaves, extended roof porch walkway supported by metal poles, replacement sliding windows, single entry doors, trellis at end of each row facing street made of elaborate decorative metal posts (like porch supports on office), and one remaining faux chimney on east block.

Architectural Description

Large one-story U-plan motel complex. The office is set in the U with a row of attached rooms. The office is front-gabled with a gabled porte cochere supported by angled metal legs and a brick pylon supporting a sign. Metal-framed single entry with sidelight and transom window, tinted fixed glass horizontal windows, and hipped-roof 'cupola' on top. There are two room units on the west end and drive-through bay with eight room units attached. Since the 2002 survey, the walls have been covered in stucco and the pierced concrete block screen walls have been removed.

Architectural Description

Large flat-roofed rectangular-plan Art Deco brick building with a symmetrical front of a central entry with vertical lines of stepped back brickwork, flat-roofed metal canopy, metal-framed entry door with sidelight and transom window. The side bays each have two openings (west side boarded up, east side bricked in) topped by vertical rectangles with slats and chevrons. East elevation has industrial windows and two garage bays. Of the original block, there is a rear block with six garage bays and a more recent shed-roofed rear addition with two garage bays. There is another large rear addition sided in metal with multiple garage bays. There is a small brick addition (added some time after 1967) on the west side with a bank of windows facing west.

Two-part block. The front block has been covered with standing seam metal with a hip-roofed metal canopy, single entry door with sidelights and transom windows, vertical slot windows, and a side addition that was added after the 2002 survey and by 2004 (historical aerials). The part with the large fixed glass windows is the addition. The rear block features horizontal masonry panels with brick corner piers, bricked in openings, and garage bay. Both blocks have a chamfered corner.

Architectural Description

Motel complex with one linear room block. The room block has brick skirting, board-and-batten siding, single door entries, sash windows (some metal, some wood), and shed-roofed porch walkway supported by metal poles. There is a separate gable-roofed block at the end that may have housed the motel café or utilities; current use not apparent. This had been added by the mid-1960s.

Architectural Description

Motel complex with two linear room blocks. The room blocks are one-story, Hardiplank sided, single door entries, metal-framed casement windows, shed-roofed porch walkways supported by plain wood posts. Both blocks were added onto in length sometime in the 1950s-60s (historical aerials). The center of the parking area was grassy early on. There is another short linear block set perpendicular to the two other blocks that dates to the original time period as does the small utility block behind that.

Architectural Description

Two-part building. The south block is triangular in plan with rounded front corner with tall windows (now boarded up), metal-framed single door entry with transom window, flat-roofed wraparound self-supported canopy, and long narrow Roman bricks. Looks like an automobile showroom. The north block is a Quonset hut with stepped parapet walls on front and back, pair of hinged garage doors, boarded up windows on front, metal-framed industrial windows on sides and rear.

Architectural Description

Two-part building. The rear building is the original building with a front-gabled roof. This was probably the office for the tourist court/motel that was here with stuccoed walls and sash windows. The motel rooms have been demolished. The front building was added in 1950 and features a flat and shed roof over a commercial building with a vertical pylon. The entrance was on the east side through the pylon. The facade features full-height windows that follow the slanted roofline and stops at the second smaller vertical pylon before the Hardiplank siding start and wraps around the flat-roofed section.

- Additions, modifications: rear tourist court section demolished
- Stylistic Influence: Contemporary

SECTION 2

Architectural Description

Unusual example of a 1950s motel complex with an enclosed U-plan accessed under covered drive-through bays on either side of office block. The office is two-story side-gabled brick residential-type block with flat-roofed full-width portico supported by brick piers that give the building its Colonial Revival style. Exterior brick chimney, six-over-six wood-framed sash windows. Second-floor side walls have wood siding. The one-story entrance block is not original but has matching brick skirting and wood-framed fixed glass windows and single entry door. Original entry had single entry door with sidelights and a broken pediment above on the same plane as the main block. There also used to be a wood X-railing on top of the portico and white wood box columns. The sign pylon supported a broken pediment sign on top. The angled side wing blocks connect to the office block with covered drive-throughs and have red brick walls; use is not apparent but may have houses amenities such as laundry or dining. The office block and wings are not connected to the room units.

- Additions, modifications: 1-story entry block, missing railing on portico

SECTION 2

Architectural Description

Unusual example of a 1950s motel complex with an enclosed U-plan accessed under covered drive-through bays on either side of office block. The U-plan room units have hipped roofs, red brick walls, single entry doors, wood-framed six-over-six sash windows, shed-roofed porch walkway supported by decorative posts. The bottom of the U has garage bays that have been infilled. The swimming pool (now infilled) was added between 1953 and 1967 (historical aerials).

SECTION 2

Architectural Description

One-story flat-roofed rectangular-plan commercial building with brick walls and projecting gable-roofed entry block with double entry doors. From historical aerials, the original irregular-plan configuration was changed between 1953 and 1967; whether it was added onto or demolished and rebuilt is not clear.

Aviatrix Café founded in 1930s across from English Field. Enlarged in 1940. Burned in 1952. Perhaps relocated to this location west of original?

One-story flat-roofed commercial strip with multiple storefronts, probably built as two parts. The east part extends slightly forward of the west part. The east part's storefronts have floor-to-ceiling glass walls with single entry doors topped by transom windows. The west part's storefronts have brick walls with large display windows and single door entries. The flat-roofed canopy is supported by metal poles with three horizontal fins at the top.

This building is in 2 parts separated by thin vertical pylon. East half has ghost of infilled garage bay, now with two single entry doors, two sash windows, and a shed-roofed canopy supported by poles. West half is low, one-story with glazed corner above brick skirting, center bay projects forward from west-most bay. Pavement outlines suggests earlier existence of pump islands.

SECTION 2

Architectural Description
Railroad grade separation over Amarillo Blvd East. Concrete retaining walls and angled abutments, steel barrier walls next to railroad tracks. The two bridges are slightly different from each other; north one has smooth riveted walls, the south one has ribbed sections with rivets. The bridges are separated by earthen mound that divides the roadway. Each road has two lanes of traffic.
